

GLOBE SPRINKLERS

STOP THE FIRE AT THE START

Before it's too late
GLOBE Sprinklers should have been installed when your building was under construction. But they can be installed now—before it is too late. They will be inspected at regular intervals by our experts to insure constant efficiency. Send for the details of this new inspection service.

GLOBE AUTOMATIC SPRINKLER CO.
2025 Washington Ave. Dickinson 511

THEY PAY FOR THEMSELVES

SPROUL MAY START PUBLIC MARKETS

Governor Plans Blow at Profiteers if Federal Authorities Fail to Act

Governor Sproul may establish a system of public markets, under state supervision, as a direct remedy for the high cost of living.

The governor announced that as his plan of action in a campaign to reduce the cost of living in an interview at his home in Chester. The governor has just returned from a conference of governors held in Salt Lake City. On Friday he and several other governors held a conference with President Wilson and Attorney General Palmer in Washington on the subject of food prices.

"We have the authority and the proper agencies in Pennsylvania for the establishment of public state markets," said Mr. Sproul. "and if we find that such extreme profiteering is going on to give the people relief we shall set up such markets. It would be somewhat of an innovation in Pennsylvania, but if there are any conscientious profiteers operating in the state something will have to be done to put them out of business. However, this we shall hold in reserve as a last resort. It can be done and would be quite practicable, but before going to such an extreme we will give the federal authorities plenty of time to get them to fall in line. If they are uncooperative we shall investigate and see if we can find the lawbreakers and punish all we find. The state may have to use a very effective weapon if we are obliged to use it."

IMMIGRATION STAFF CUT

Half of Thirty Assistants at Gloucester Suffer Under Retrenchment

The force of watchmen, matrons and cleaners at the detention house of the Gloucester immigrant station has been cut in two by the discharge of fifteen employees.

The reduction is due to the efforts of the Bureau of Immigration to reduce operating expenses. Congress cut the appropriation of the immigration service of the working force at every immigration port.

There are still forty aliens at the detention house, most of whom will be sent away within the next two weeks. One mother and five children will be sent to the Philippine Islands where they were taken into custody when the war started. The husband and father, at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., will be released to join them.

PERKASIE WELCOMES BOYS

Upper Bucks County Turns Labor Day into Soldiers' Celebration

Hundreds of visitors from upper Bucks county are in Perkasie today for the ceremonies staged as part of the "welcome home" day for the returned soldiers and marines who entered the service from Perkasie.

This afternoon the service men, civic and fraternal organizations, borough officials and visiting delegations will parade. At Mealo Park there will be a public meeting, music, sporting events and finally a banquet.

The observance was planned by a committee of business and professional men of Perkasie, working under the chairmanship of Mahlon Keller. Funds were raised by popular subscription.

TELLS TALES OF SEA TO RECRUIT OFFICERS

Lieutenant Whiteside Succeeds in Inducing Men to Enter Merchant Marine

Here's a new and unique government job—spinning sea yarns to gain recruits for the merchant marine, a position that is being filled by Lieutenant H. C. Whiteside with credit to himself and with great success in strengthening the personnel of the merchant service.

Officially, Lieutenant Whiteside is the shipping board's recruiting officer for the merchant marine, with headquarters at 136 South Third street. Unofficially, he is known as the best teller of sea stories that ever came to this port.

And every one of them is true, having been drawn from his own actual experiences in the merchant service during the war. Lieutenant Whiteside has been aboard torpedoed ships and has had other war adventures that rival those of the heroes of fiction.

Lieutenant Whiteside experiences no difficulty in getting young men to "sign up" in the merchant service. All he needs to do is spin a few yarns and the prospective applicants, fascinated by his stories, hesitate no longer, and soon are on their way to the training ships for instruction. So that while, officially, he is the government recruiting agent at this port, he is really a duly authorized spinner of sea yarns and young men with a hankering for an adventurous career are invited to call upon him and listen to some of his thrilling tales.

Old-Time Songs for Salvationists

Methodist hymns, delivered with a swing suggestive of the palmy days of the "camp-meeting," resounded last evening in the Salvation Army auditorium. Broad street and Fairmount avenues. The Pen Arzel quartet, of Pen Arzel, Pa., a male quartet of Salvationists, were the singers. Major William C. Crawford presided at the services.

PACKER SOLD BAD BEEF HERE, CHARGE

Armour & Co. Manager's Letter Admits Meat Was "Doctored" Before Wilson & Co. Got It

BOUGHT FOR USE IN ARMY

Beef so bad that treatment with soda and vinegar was necessary before it was shipped, was sold by Armour & Co., Chicago packers, from its storage houses in this city, to feed American soldiers here and overseas.

The beef was sold to another Chicago firm of packers, Wilson & Co., and was resold to the United States Government at top prices.

These charges, made by the federal trade commission, have been admitted by the packers over the signatures of their officials.

The denial issued by Thomas E. Wilson, head of Wilson & Co., at the time the charges were made public, that "there is nothing our company has done that is not open to the light of day," is refuted by a letter from the manager in this city of the rival company which sold the Wilson Company tons of putrid meat.

The proof is revealed in letters embodied in the recently published report of the federal trade commission on the meat-packing industry.

In a letter to the headquarters of the Armour firm in Chicago, T. G. Lee, district superintendent of the Armour interests here, complained of the "great quantity of bad condition beef" the Philadelphia house "has had to sell."

The rotten beef was bought by Wilson & Co. from Philadelphia storage plants of Armour and "shipped to New York for freezing," the letter stated.

Mr. Lee acknowledged, when seen, that he had sent the letter. "All beef that was investigated by the Federal Trade Commission," he said, "and it has been made public. The Wilson people were exonerated."

The communication of Mr. Lee, telling of the sale of rotten meat, follows: "917-925 Noble street, Philadelphia, Pa., February 23, 1918.

"Mr. V. H. Munnecke, "Armour & Co., Chicago, Ill. "Dear Sir:—This has been a very unsatisfactory week, because of the great quantity of bad condition beef we have had to sell. Even our Kosher beef has failed to find a market. I have sold ninety per cent of our beef unloaded this week was very stale.

"Morris and Wilson had just as much trouble as we had. Swift got by with practically no trouble at all. Possibly this trouble may partly be accounted for by the beef being held a long time at the plant, while Swift had cars and was able to keep closer up to date on his shipments.

"Wilson froze quite a little beef, some out of their own shipments and some they bought. They bought beef from us at 122 North Delaware avenue. It was wiped up twice before we sold it to them. They bagged it up and shipped it to New York for freezing. They bought beef from Arch Street that was so bad that we bathed it in vinegar and soda before we showed it to them. I think this beef also was shipped to New York for freezing.

"I certainly do not know what they are going to do with this beef. I certainly do not think beef in the condition they are buying ought to be exported or offered to our armies. Yours truly, T. G. LEE."

NO LETTER DELIVERY

Parcel Post Perishable Matter All That Will Be Distributed

Today is a holiday at the Philadelphia postoffice.

No delivery of mail will be made by carriers. One delivery of perishable parcel post matter will be made in the afternoon.

All post offices were open until 11 o'clock for the transaction of money order and registry business, and the sale of stamps, etc. Collections will be made to the best interests of the service. Dispatch of mails will be as usual.

The inquiry, registry and general delivery sections of the Central Office, were open for the transaction of business until 11 a. m. The stamp window will be open from 7 a. m. until 12 o'clock midnight.

The money order section, Central Office, will be closed all day, as well as all postal saving depositories.

CAMDEN CO. RIDERS TURN TO STEAM TRAINS

Heavy Sale of Monthly Railroad Tickets is Attributed to Increased Rates on Trolleys

Station agents along the line of the Atlantic City and Pennsylvania Railroad lines between Camden and Camden and Haddonfield and Camden to Philadelphia reported the sale of the monthly tickets for September to be unusually large. Many trolley riders have decided to use the steam trains in preference to paying the increased rate of fares on the trolley cars beginning September 14.

Petitions have been sent to both railroad companies for additional trains and it is believed they will be put in operation after this week when the heavy traffic to the seashore ends. The railroads have promised to help the trolley riders as much as possible.

Trolley crews say the traffic is steadily falling off. They attribute it to the new schedule which is to go into effect in two weeks. Most of the crews are "with the riders." They say they are opposed to the increased work which will be imposed upon them by the new system and some of the motormen desire a number of crews will quit their jobs. They are now being instructed in the workings of the new system.

A large autobus which carries forty persons is now running between Federal street ferry, Camden, and Collingswood. Passengers are carried to Harleigh Cemetery for a five-cent fare and ten cents to Collingswood. More buses will be put on this week to other towns. Jitneys did a big business yesterday.

Camden Boy Missing

Ward has been received by the police in Camden that Edward Kane, fourteen years old, of 617 Line street, is among the missing. Relatives reported that the boy took a train at Camden's Point, Saturday, where he had been visiting, and failed to reach his home.

FALSE FIRE ALARM "JOKER" BUSY; POLICE START PROBE

Search On for Mysterious Stranger Whose Repeated Early Morning Summons Cost City $2000

A man with a long black coat sent in three false alarms early this morning, costing the taxpayers of Philadelphia something like $2000. The firemen say, disturbed the slumbers of many tired firemen and is giving about a dozen detectives much work today searching for him.

After three false alarms a real alarm came in from the textile mills of Shibley & Dalton, corner of Thompson and Clementine streets. Fortunately Engine Co. No. 28, suspicious, did not answer a false alarm at the same time and was at home to put out the blaze at the mills, which proved to be in a bale of yarn. The damage was slight.

The false alarms began about midnight. The first was from Richmond and Norris streets, in the neighborhood of Cramp's shipyard. Seven or eight companies responded. Nothing doing.

The second alarm issued by Thomas E. Wilson, head of Wilson & Co., at the time the charges were made public, that "there is nothing our company has done that is not open to the light of day," is refuted by a letter from the manager in this city of the rival company which sold the Wilson Company tons of putrid meat.

The denial issued by Thomas E. Wilson, head of Wilson & Co., at the time the charges were made public, that "there is nothing our company has done that is not open to the light of day," is refuted by a letter from the manager in this city of the rival company which sold the Wilson Company tons of putrid meat.

The denial issued by Thomas E. Wilson, head of Wilson & Co., at the time the charges were made public, that "there is nothing our company has done that is not open to the light of day," is refuted by a letter from the manager in this city of the rival company which sold the Wilson Company tons of putrid meat.

The denial issued by Thomas E. Wilson, head of Wilson & Co., at the time the charges were made public, that "there is nothing our company has done that is not open to the light of day," is refuted by a letter from the manager in this city of the rival company which sold the Wilson Company tons of putrid meat.

The denial issued by Thomas E. Wilson, head of Wilson & Co., at the time the charges were made public, that "there is nothing our company has done that is not open to the light of day," is refuted by a letter from the manager in this city of the rival company which sold the Wilson Company tons of putrid meat.

The denial issued by Thomas E. Wilson, head of Wilson & Co., at the time the charges were made public, that "there is nothing our company has done that is not open to the light of day," is refuted by a letter from the manager in this city of the rival company which sold the Wilson Company tons of putrid meat.

The denial issued by Thomas E. Wilson, head of Wilson & Co., at the time the charges were made public, that "there is nothing our company has done that is not open to the light of day," is refuted by a letter from the manager in this city of the rival company which sold the Wilson Company tons of putrid meat.

The denial issued by Thomas E. Wilson, head of Wilson & Co., at the time the charges were made public, that "there is nothing our company has done that is not open to the light of day," is refuted by a letter from the manager in this city of the rival company which sold the Wilson Company tons of putrid meat.

The denial issued by Thomas E. Wilson, head of Wilson & Co., at the time the charges were made public, that "there is nothing our company has done that is not open to the light of day," is refuted by a letter from the manager in this city of the rival company which sold the Wilson Company tons of putrid meat.

The denial issued by Thomas E. Wilson, head of Wilson & Co., at the time the charges were made public, that "there is nothing our company has done that is not open to the light of day," is refuted by a letter from the manager in this city of the rival company which sold the Wilson Company tons of putrid meat.

The denial issued by Thomas E. Wilson, head of Wilson & Co., at the time the charges were made public, that "there is nothing our company has done that is not open to the light of day," is refuted by a letter from the manager in this city of the rival company which sold the Wilson Company tons of putrid meat.

The denial issued by Thomas E. Wilson, head of Wilson & Co., at the time the charges were made public, that "there is nothing our company has done that is not open to the light of day," is refuted by a letter from the manager in this city of the rival company which sold the Wilson Company tons of putrid meat.

The denial issued by Thomas E. Wilson, head of Wilson & Co., at the time the charges were made public, that "there is nothing our company has done that is not open to the light of day," is refuted by a letter from the manager in this city of the rival company which sold the Wilson Company tons of putrid meat.

The denial issued by Thomas E. Wilson, head of Wilson & Co., at the time the charges were made public, that "there is nothing our company has done that is not open to the light of day," is refuted by a letter from the manager in this city of the rival company which sold the Wilson Company tons of putrid meat.

The denial issued by Thomas E. Wilson, head of Wilson & Co., at the time the charges were made public, that "there is nothing our company has done that is not open to the light of day," is refuted by a letter from the manager in this city of the rival company which sold the Wilson Company tons of putrid meat.

The denial issued by Thomas E. Wilson, head of Wilson & Co., at the time the charges were made public, that "there is nothing our company has done that is not open to the light of day," is refuted by a letter from the manager in this city of the rival company which sold the Wilson Company tons of putrid meat.

The denial issued by Thomas E. Wilson, head of Wilson & Co., at the time the charges were made public, that "there is nothing our company has done that is not open to the light of day," is refuted by a letter from the manager in this city of the rival company which sold the Wilson Company tons of putrid meat.

The denial issued by Thomas E. Wilson, head of Wilson & Co., at the time the charges were made public, that "there is nothing our company has done that is not open to the light of day," is refuted by a letter from the manager in this city of the rival company which sold the Wilson Company tons of putrid meat.

The denial issued by Thomas E. Wilson, head of Wilson & Co., at the time the charges were made public, that "there is nothing our company has done that is not open to the light of day," is refuted by a letter from the manager in this city of the rival company which sold the Wilson Company tons of putrid meat.

The denial issued by Thomas E. Wilson, head of Wilson & Co., at the time the charges were made public, that "there is nothing our company has done that is not open to the light of day," is refuted by a letter from the manager in this city of the rival company which sold the Wilson Company tons of putrid meat.

The denial issued by Thomas E. Wilson, head of Wilson & Co., at the time the charges were made public, that "there is nothing our company has done that is not open to the light of day," is refuted by a letter from the manager in this city of the rival company which sold the Wilson Company tons of putrid meat.

The denial issued by Thomas E. Wilson, head of Wilson & Co., at the time the charges were made public, that "there is nothing our company has done that is not open to the light of day," is refuted by a letter from the manager in this city of the rival company which sold the Wilson Company tons of putrid meat.

The denial issued by Thomas E. Wilson, head of Wilson & Co., at the time the charges were made public, that "there is nothing our company has done that is not open to the light of day," is refuted by a letter from the manager in this city of the rival company which sold the Wilson Company tons of putrid meat.

The denial issued by Thomas E. Wilson, head of Wilson & Co., at the time the charges were made public, that "there is nothing our company has done that is not open to the light of day," is refuted by a letter from the manager in this city of the rival company which sold the Wilson Company tons of putrid meat.

The denial issued by Thomas E. Wilson, head of Wilson & Co., at the time the charges were made public, that "there is nothing our company has done that is not open to the light of day," is refuted by a letter from the manager in this city of the rival company which sold the Wilson Company tons of putrid meat.

The denial issued by Thomas E. Wilson, head of Wilson & Co., at the time the charges were made public, that "there is nothing our company has done that is not open to the light of day," is refuted by a letter from the manager in this city of the rival company which sold the Wilson Company tons of putrid meat.

BIG BYBERRY FAIR DRAWS THOUSANDS

High Cost of Living Focuses Attention of Many on Farmer

BAN PLACED ON GYPSIES

While all of the exhibits for the Philadelphia County Fair at Byberry have not been placed, thousands of persons thronged the grounds for the opening day and the fair started with unusual momentum this morning. This is due in part to the fact that high cost of living has attracted attention to what the farmer is doing.

Awards for fancy work and paintings were the only ones made today. Those on agricultural exhibits will be made tomorrow.

Gypsies, many of whom arrived, bag and baggage, early today and prepared to put up their tents, are tabooed this year. They drove into the grounds in high-powered cars, the women folk dressed in gorgeous silks and leers.

This eighth annual exhibit of farm products is a real county fair, but on a broader scale than ever before. Many of the features have been enlarged and improved, including the midway. It is planned to have "something happening" all the time to keep the crowds interested and amused.

Farmers, of course, are at the fair. They came from a wide region, but with them are business men and wage-earners, eager to share in the fun and get a glimpse of the best in the oldest and greatest industry to which man has turned his hands—and brains.

Fewer persons are disposed to joke about the farmer in these days of high prices. Some feel a new respect with the realization that the farmer is the producer upon whom all other producers depend; some are impressed with the fact that if farmers do not produce bountifully and if their numbers do not increase, high prices will linger long, and some are dazzled by the tales of the profits that have fallen to the farmers in the last few years and by the fact that each one is reputed to carry a well-filled purse.

The fair will continue until next Friday. There are running, trotting and pacing races on the program today, tomorrow, and on Wednesday and Thursday. But there will be no horse races on Friday, as that day has been chosen for the automobile races. These will be thrilling.

Some famous horses will be at the fair grounds, for purses amounting to $20,000 have been offered.

Letter Carriers Tomorrow

Tomorrow the letter carriers from all parts of the United States will attend the fair.

Children will be admitted free tomorrow, as it will also be children's day. A merry-go-round and huge ferris wheel are among the many attractions for kiddies.

On Wednesday the members of the United Business Men's Association will visit the exhibits. A large committee of the representatives of the business interests of the city is headed by E. T. Tynall and D. G. Leatherman, who are planning to have 4000 or 5000 business men present. Several hundred automobiles will be used in conveying these men to and from the fair grounds.

Thursday will be "Fraternal Day" at the fair. Mystic Shriners and other members of the Masonic order will be there.

DEALERS SILENT ON BOOZE

Refuse to Discuss Resolutions Favorably Acted Upon

Members of the Retail Liquor Dealers' Association refused to tell what was done at their monthly meeting in the Parkway Building. Though it was admitted by Neil Bonner, former president of the organization, that ways and means of combating the prohibition amendment to the constitution, which will go into effect on January 16, 1920, were discussed, he declared that no one was at liberty to divulge the important resolutions favorably acted upon at the session.

Thomas J. O'Connor, president of the Pennsylvania Liquor Dealers' Association, and George W. Boyd, state organizer, addressed the more than 250 members who attended the meeting. Before the gathering had adjourned, however, the officials quietly left the building and took a train for New York, leaving word that the proceedings of the meeting be kept secret until counsel had been consulted.

Merchant Marine Officers Sought

A combined drive for various types of officers, urgently needed by the merchant marine, as well as for young men for the rank and file of the service, is being conducted in this city and vicinity by officials of the United States shipping board recruiting service. The object of the drive is to increase the active personnel of the merchant service and to build it up on a thoroughly American basis, the slogan of American officers and American crews for American ships' constantly in mind.

Pepper Sees Pact Beaten

Leader in Opposition to Treaty Says People Are Disgusted

Rejection by the United States Senate of the league of nations covenant as it now stands is predicted in a statement issued by George Wharton Pepper.

Mr. Pepper made his forecast in Washington where he is directing the opposition to the proposed covenant.

"After canvassing the situation in Washington and elsewhere," Mr. Pepper stated, "I am satisfied that the treaty cannot be ratified as it stands."

Do you know

Kansas City is the capital of the largest high grade oil district in the world.

providing 60 per cent of the nation's gasoline?

the

preparing

the

the

the

SPRING CITY GIVES BIG WELCOME HOME

Parade and Sports Mark Labor Day Exercises to Honor Soldiers

198 MEN IN WORLD WAR

Proud of the record in the war of the men who went to France from Spring City and surrounding districts, residents of that part of Pennsylvania are giving the returned service men a grand "Welcome Home" fête in connection with the Labor Day celebration today.

The festival really began Saturday, when the Spring City band gave a concert to the war veterans. Yesterday there was a community church service.

But the parade and other events were set for today. The program began this morning with a baseball game between Spring City and Royersford, at Maple Park, Royersford. Admission to Spring City's service men was free.

Day's Program

Other events for the day follow:

1:30 p. m.—Soldiers and sailors assemble in Cushman club rooms to receive instructions from Captain Samuel A. Walker, U. S. Army.

2:30 p. m.—Discharge of the parade form in respective places assumed to them.

3:30 p. m.—Parade moves, beginning at Main and Chestnut streets, toward Hall street.

4:30 p. m.—Massed band concert, 150 musicians, on Main street between New and Hall streets.

5:30 p. m.—Address, Harry D. Wescott, Philadelphia.

6:30 p. m.—Reception and banquet in Liberty Fire Company hall. Address, G. F. Schmidt. Distribution of souvenir booklets.

7:30 p. m.—Band concert and Community Sing, Spring City Hotel porch.

8:30 p. m.—Address, Walter E. Talbot, West Chester, Pa.

198 Men in War

Spring City sent 198 men to the war. These men saw real soldiering and hard fighting. Eleven men were killed and seventeen were wounded. Four Spring City men were cited for bravery and two won the Distinguished Service Cross.

The eleven who gave their lives in the great struggle were Walter Thomas Gaffney, Leon Jenner, Eli Stanley Keffer, Charles Harold Schmitt, Grover C. Cook, Alfred Ira Campbell, Wilmer Fryer, Paul Fryer, Frederick L. Moser, Martin Luther Bauer and Howard Kulp Epright.

Arrangements for the homecoming celebration were in charge of committee of well-known men, of which Leonard G. Jones was general chairman; A. F. Tyson, treasurer, and William S. Shiff, secretary.

The committees are: Reception committee—Charles S. Wagoner, chairman; A. F. Tyson, secretary; Fred L. Moser, treasurer; Milton Laidlaw, chairman; E. F. Ryan, secretary; Harry L. Rogers, Prof. W. E. DeTucker, chairman; Morgan Edwards, Loren E. Ginn, chairman; G. F. Schmidt, secretary; H. G. Peterman, chairman; Joseph M. Moore, H. G. Peterman, chairman.

Finance committee—A. F. Tyson, chairman; Milton Laidlaw, secretary; William Keffer, chairman; A. F. Tyson, secretary; H. G. Peterman, chairman; Joseph M. Moore, H. G. Peterman, chairman.

Publicity committee—D. M. Curry, chairman; John P. Wagner, secretary; H. G. Peterman, chairman; Joseph M. Moore, H. G. Peterman, chairman.

Speakers and program committee—R. H. Hunter, chairman; Rev. D. B. Kreib, Joseph A. Coulton, Ellis Forrest, Rev. I. T. Edwards.

Memorial committee—A. F. Winter, chairman; Mrs. W. J. Corrigan, Mrs. Mary E. Kelley, Mrs. J. I. Wells, William G. Kline, Joseph M. Moore, H. G. Peterman, chairman.

Y. M. C. A. committee—Rev. D. B. Kreib, Joseph A. Coulton, Ellis Forrest, Rev. I. T. Edwards.

BOY KILLED FRIEND, CHARGE

Camden Youth of Eleven Faces Trial for Manslaughter

Charles Emmanuel, eleven years old, of 1024 North Twenty-sixth street, Camden, today will be charged with manslaughter for the death of his playmate, Harry Brenner Smith, eight years, of 1033 North Twenty-sixth street, according to the Camden police.

On Saturday afternoon, August 23, the boys were playing along the riverfront at Pavonia. When the Smith boy returned to his home he told his mother he had been struck on the head with a stone by the Emmanuel boy. A warrant for the Emmanuel boy was issued and he was held in jail on a charge of assault and battery. When the report came to police headquarters yesterday that the Smith boy had died, Policeman Schlam was instructed to arrest the boy again.

'Allies' Day' Carnival

Sporting events, a street carnival and concerts by the police band will be features of the "Allies' Day" celebration at the McCoach Recreation Center, Seventh and Fitzwater streets, on Wednesday. The McCoach center enjoys the patronage of the most cosmopolitan group of youngsters in the city, and virtually every allied country will be represented in the hundreds of children who will take part in Wednesday's celebration.

Galvanized Boat Pumps

FOOT AND LIMB TROUBLES Instantly relieved by our special liniment. Supports, fitted and adjusted by experts. Our ointment is a relief for all kinds of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, lumbago, sprains, strains, muscle aches, and all other ailments of the feet and limbs. Weak knees and aching joints. Tumor, abdominal and chest pain. Write for literature. Large Philadelphia Orthopedic Co., 40 N. 12th St. Cut out and keep for reference.—P. L.

MURRY'S SEMI-ANNUAL SALE

MANY WORTH-WHILE VALUES IN FRAMED PICTURES GIFTS LEATHER GOODS STATIONERY DEVELOPING PRINTING AND ENLARGEMENTS 87 CHESTNUT STREET

Big Round-Up Clearance Sale!

Odd Lots and Broken Sizes In Perry Spring and Summer Suits Light-weight Topcoats and a Sprinkling of Winter Overcoats formerly $30, $35, $38 and $40 to be closed out at